

Comprehensive Discography Report: Collected Works and Musical Annotations

1. Technical Documentation Parameters

Functional Descriptors Reference Table

The following table defines the standardized descriptors used to categorize vocalists and entities within the lyrical transcriptions. All specific personal identifiers and real-world names in the original source have been replaced with these functional titles to maintain archival consistency and objective distance.

Descriptor	Definition	Original Mention Examples
Lead Vocalist	Primary male or male-presenting vocal presence; the central narrator.	"Male Vocal," "Griot."
Female Narrator/Vocalist	Primary female or female-presenting vocal presence; provides counter-narratives or melodic hooks.	"Female Vocal," "Shorty," "Gothic Queens."
Ensemble	Group or gang vocals used for emphasis, chants, or background reinforcement.	"Crowd," "Choir," "Carnival Crew," "Gang Chants."
Subject Number	Specific individuals or entities described within the narrative (categorized by appearance or importance).

This report treats production techniques as active structural components. The following technical terms describe the sonic architecture utilized throughout the discography:

- 808s: Low-frequency percussion used to provide a "coiled," heavy, or "sliding" sub-bass foundation.
- Drill Cadence: A rhythmic delivery characterized by militant, syncopated timing, often featuring sliding bass and clipped consonants.
- Anapestic Rhythm: A metric foot consisting of two short syllables followed by one stressed syllable, creating a "bouncing" or "rolling" momentum.
- Boom-Bap: A style of hip-hop production focused on a hard kick drum and snare, often utilizing "dusty" or "lo-fi" samples.
- Static-Laced Ambience: The use of non-musical noise (hiss, radio interference) to create a sense of surveillance or paranoia.

2. Comprehensive Track-by-Track Analysis

GLASS HOUSE

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | 92 BPM | | Musical Direction | Cold, paranoid-tension Boom-Bap | | Acoustic Elements | Sub 808s, surveillance-feed hiss, dry snares (3-5kHz), distorted guitar drone |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Flat, controlled, and unshaken. Ad-libs are dry and muttered, suggesting an overheard conversation rather than a performance.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics(Yeah... this the part they hoped you'd never say out loud.) (Y'all really thought I wouldn't catch that?) (Cute.)Y'all swear I'm STUPID? Man, cut the bullshit. Same weak-ass SETUP with a fresh coat of stupid. "Go ahead, TAKE it..." Nah, bitch, TAKE notes. I'm already READIN' every move that you wrote. One fool playin' FRIENDLY, one fool STAYIN' hid, Whole damn CIRCUS hopin' I flip my lid. You call it a TEST? I call it a TELL. Only broke-ass ACTORS rehearse that well. While you busy FISHIN', I'm filmin' the dock. Every fake-ass GRIN... Every tick of the CLOCK. Thought you had a VICTIM... Wrong damn day. I don't chase BAIT... I expose the play. You wanted a fool... You got a FUCKIN' mirror! Now you gotta stare while the picture get CLEARER! Authenticity ain't OPTIONAL! Fake don't LAST! Y'all built a glass house... Then started throwin' TRASH! Keep playin' games... I keep STACKIN' facts! When the smoke all clears... Who the hell got THAT? Then come the SWITCH. Man, that shit's PREDICTABLE. Soon as the setup FAILS, everybody gets biblical. Now I'm the PROBLEM? Now I'm INSANE? Funny how the script always END the same. First you PROVOKE... Then you CLUTCH your chest. Like your own damn FINGERPRINTS vanished from the mess. Whole damn CHOIR singin' off-key lies, Hopin' loud beats TRUTH in people's eyes. Too bad... I ARCHIVE everything. Videos... Time stamps... RECEIPTS by the string. You brought the THEATER... I brought the playback. Now every damn LIE got a soundtrack. Talk slick. Whisper. Point. Stare. I've seen that smoke before it hit the air. You busy playin' checkers with a plastic grin. I'm documentin' patterns... Y'all documentin' spin. Pressure don't fold me. Pressure reveals. Fake always cracks... Real always heals. Every dirty move... Every sideways glance... Y'all keep diggin' holes. I'm markin' the map. You wanted me shook... I got LOUDER! You wanted me small... I built TALLER! Authenticity ain't OPTIONAL! Remember that SHIT! The truth don't panic... It just don't QUIT! Keep your bait! Keep your ACT! I'm still here... And I kept the FACTS! Next time... Bring a better script. The last one folded before Act Two.

- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Spoken over street noise and static); Verse 1 (Tight pocket delivery); Bridge (Flat narration); Outro (Calm spoken dismissal).
- Narrative Annotations: Ad-libs delivered as dry, mutterings representing surveillance interception.

I Said Good Day, Sir

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Slow and fierce | | Musical Direction | Dark, haunting, cinematic beat | | Acoustic Elements | Deep 808s, eerie melody, soft wind, distant sirens |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Calm but cold; weary intensity. Features pitch-shifted or echoing spoken intros and gravelly delivery on key transitions.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics You don't impress me, boy, not in the least, I've seen monsters that'd turn you to meat. And yet, I've seen those same hands give their last, To a kid with no coat, in a world built to crash. "The devil walks past, and I nod—like a friend, Some nights you survive, some—you pray for the end." They told me, "Don't go there," said I wouldn't last, Like I ain't spent nights where the devil walks past. Like I ain't heard whispers that cut through the dark, Or seen mercy and murder play hands in the park. I been where the air tastes heavy with sin, Where angels got ink and their halos wear thin. Where wolves keep their heads on a swivel to live, And a handshake can turn to a blade in the ribs. You think I flinch 'cause your jaw's locked tight? Boy, I done slept through the edge of a knife. Prison taught me not to beg, not to run, But to nod at the reaper and wait for the sun."The devil walks past, and I nod—like a friend, Some nights you survive, some—you pray for the end."See, I don't walk mean, I don't flex, I don't shout, I just stand like I've seen what you dream about. Ain't gotta act tough, ain't gotta pretend, 'Cause I know who I am, I don't break, I don't bend. Some frat boy mean mugs, tryna act real hard, Like he ever seen death in a prison yard. Like he ever felt fate breathing down his neck, Or heard his own name in a whispered death check. You don't impress me, boy, not in the least, I've seen monsters that'd turn you to meat. And yet, I've seen those same hands give their last, To a kid with no coat, in a world built to crash."The devil walks past, and I nod—like a friend, Some nights you survive, some—you pray for the end."

- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Pitch-shifted spoken); Hook (Ghost-whisper); Bridge (Beat slows for gravel-throated delivery); Outro (Environmental fade).

Ashley and Raven

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Dusk-lit pacing | | Musical Direction | Dark, cinematic | | Acoustic Elements | Faint ambient pulse, "war drum" crowd sounds |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Dominant Female Vocal; confident, gritty, and mocking.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics Ladies and Gentlemen I present to you, Subject 1 and Subject 2 's night to remember. She roared like thunder, vanished in vain—while goddesses danced in the midnight rain. Second time out, gates still echo my name. Disturbed concert—frontline, back in the game. Shorty by my side, barely a hundred ten. Name don't matter, she ain't make it to the end. Line long, mood charged, war drum in the crowd. One chick walks past, calls her out loud. "Slut"—said it slick with venom in her breath. Lil' thing turned, like she summoned her own death. No pause, no talk, no flex—just bang. Pounced on that chick like a wolf off the chain. Crowd went wild, fists, hair, pure rage. But me? I slipped solo, front-row to backstage. She roared like thunder, vanished in vain—while goddesses danced in the midnight rain. Thought she was fire, thought she was flame—couldn't handle the storm, just played the game. Barstool throne, sippin' still, eyein' the scene. Then two queens glide by—gothic and mean. Laced in black, curves that commanded the space. Girdles, skirts, dark lips on full display. Caught me staring, they spun on a dime. Posted up, one each side—perfect crime. Subject 1 on the right, mouth like a blade. Said, " Subject 2 thinks we should take you and slay." I laughed, "Bet," like I meant it right then. They said, "Drop your number, we'll hit you again." Two weeks passed—I forgot that night. Then they call: "You off work? Cool. We ride." While she played braveheart and lost her claim—two heavy-hitter queens lit a whole new flame. When the pretty ones flee, the real ones remain—dancing with shadows, dripping in game. Walk in they crib, and the walls got voice. Full murals of them—no shame, no choice. Woods, blood, showers, erotic pain. Subject 1 licking crimson like it's part of the rain. I said, "What the—" but stepped in deeper. Backroom vibe: predator meets reaper. Whips, cuffs, wax, ice, control. Feather to flame, they swallowed me whole. Handcuffed tight, heartbeat fast. Switchin' roles—pain then a sensual blast. Subject 2 on the left, Subject 1 in command. Queens of power play, grip like brands. She roared like thunder, vanished in vain—while goddesses danced in the midnight rain. These big girls don't beg, they reign—discipline and pleasure, tangled in chains. I ain't submissive, I don't fold, don't bow. But that mix of hurt and heaven? Yeah, I allow. Taught me a lesson 'bout trust and thrill. That size ain't weakness—it's depth, it's will. Goth chicks knew how to ride the flame. Own their bodies, own the game. While that dime-piece faded, scared of play. These goddesses owned the whole damn stage. She roared like thunder, vanished in vain—while goddesses danced in the midnight rain. She dipped out scared, missed the campaign— Subject 1 and Subject 2 ? They carved their name. Ain't always the pretty ones who leave a mark... It's the wild ones in the dark—The queens who bring the spark.

- Structural Commands: Intro (Spoken with fire); Outro (Spoken over ambient pulse).
- Narrative Annotations: Mocking, smoky refrains rising in power.

Beautifully Broken

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Mid-tempo | | Musical Direction | Cinematic, anthemic gospel energy | | Acoustic Elements | Dusty strings, distant sirens, melodic echoed soul |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Soulful grit; transitions from spoken-word weight to an anthemic, bold chorus.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics They called him halo, but there was nothin' saintly 'bout his path. Born where prayers go unheard and hope's just another hustle. He ain't fall from grace—he crawled from fire, Draggin' broken dreams like chains through the mire. Don't fix me—I'm built like this, A puzzle of pain, a chaos kiss. I glow through the damage, fuck the fears, Beautifully broken despite all the tears. Concrete cradle, raised by the grind, Every scar a scripture, every loss redesigned. Mama gone ghost, pops was a shadow, Learned to hustle peace from pain in the back alleys of sorrow. He ain't polished—he's battleworn gold, With a heart that limps and a story untold. But when life bent him, it ain't break him—it tuned him, Like a weapon forged in grief, where the silence consumes him. "Don't fix the cracks," he said, "they let the light through." Each fracture's a passage, every bruise is a clue. He don't wear masks—he wear the truth loud, A king in exile, with his chin still proud. We the ones they tossed, now we rise from the ash, Beautifully broken, with a soul built to clash. Don't need your kingdom—we kings of the street, Crowned in chaos, with fire at our feet. He met Subject in the shelter, eyes like midnight glass, Said her dreams got stolen, but she's takin' 'em back. Two ghosts with heartbeat—drifters, not lost, Linked by the scars and the price of the cost. They ain't kiss for comfort, they kissed for survival, A ritual of ruin, not some fairytale revival. Together they climbed out the void hand in hand, Two souls stitched in silence, tryin' to understand. "No shame in shatterin'," she whispered like rain, "Some of us break to escape the chain." They ain't need to be whole, just aligned in the fight, Fuel for each other in the heart of the night. The world labeled 'em shattered, leftovers, freaks—But they danced in the wreckage, kissed on cracked concrete. Beauty ain't in perfection, it's born in the mess, In the raw, the flawed, the ones under stress. He ain't fall—he rose through ruin. She ain’t run—she raged into truth. Together? They redefined what it means to be bulletproof. Not clean. Not pure. But real. Beautifully. Broken.

- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Pre-Chorus (Melodic build); Bridge (Spoken-word weight); Outro (Whispered chant).

Beta bro

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | High-tension Drill pacing | | Musical Direction | Boom-Bap / Drill hybrid | | Acoustic Elements | Stripped vinyl tone, hard bounce |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Aggressive drill cadence; sharp confrontation and cold chuckles.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics Yeah... Subject still standing there. Plastic pride in a real steel room. Step in the room like a rented crown, Subject stiff when the pressure comes down. All that pose, all that plastic pride, door swings once and the whole thing dies. We don’t even laugh, it’s already clear, Subject folds when the air gets near. Step in the room like a rented crown, Subject still when the truth comes ‘round. Fake-ass flex with a hollow core, boom-bap bounce then he hits the floor. Sliding through beats like corners at speed, Subject talk but it don’t mean need. Built like a mannequin stuck on “brave,” one real moment and he start to cave. You ain’t pressure-made, you display-case fake, confidence peeling every move you make. That stance don’t hold when the room go still, you glitch in silence like broken will. No dirt in your story, no weight in your name, just plastic ambition trying to play the game. I’m weaving through rhythm like sirens behind, you freeze up fast when truth unwind. And I’m barely trying, it’s light on sight, you folding early without a fight. Every bar cut clean like tire spin slide, Subject energy can’t survive this ride. You talk real loud but it don’t connect, like molded words begging for respect. I see the seams in your manufactured tone, like confidence coded but never your own. You ain’t dangerous, you decorative noise, a wind-up version of street-level poise. You fold on contact, no pressure withstand, like reality hits and you lose your stance. I’m switching lanes through your weak-ass frame, still stuck on pretend, still chasing a name. And it’s funny how you try hold tight stance, but drill cadence make your ego dance. Subject don’t survive real air pressure. It just stops performing.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Hook (Boom-Bap bounce); Verse Transitions (Sharp drill-pockets); Bridge (Low, stripped commentary).

CAN'T DO IT LIKE ME

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | 70 BPM | | Musical Direction | Modern downtempo militant drill | | Acoustic Elements | Deep sliding 808s, sparse piano, syncopated hats, wide negative space |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Low-mid male voice; militant anapestic cadence. Completely flat levels, dry close-mic delivery, clipped consonants.

- Complete Transcribed Lyrics Can't do it like ME. Ain't a BRAG. It's a FACT. Same BLOCK. Same CORNER. Same SPOT. Same TALK. Years kept MOVING. You stayed RIGHT THERE. Every TIME that I CIRCLE, I NOTICE the PATTERN, Same FACES still POSTED, same TALK getting TATTERED. Same STORE, same BENCH, same CORNER, same WEATHER, Same PEOPLE still STANDING like TIME holds together. I LEFT with some QUESTIONS, came BACK with some ANSWERS, You STAYED with the SAME ones, just CHANGED up the BANTER. You BET that I'd FOLD and come CRAWLING back HOME, But I BUILT every MILE while you SAT by the PHONE. Twenty YEARS went PAST. You STILL where I LEFT you. Same DUST on the GROUND. Same STORIES that KEPT you. You call it a LIFE. I call it a LOOP. You been GUARDING that SPOT while I WALKED through the PROOF. Keep POSTED. Keep TALKING. Keep WATCHING that ROAD. Keep COUNTING the MILES that you NEVER unloaded. I DON'T need your CREDIT. I DON'T need your APPLAUSE. You stayed WHERE you WERE. I kept MOVING because—Can't do it like ME. NO. Can't do it like ME. Same SPOT. Same TALK. Same OLD ENERGY. Can't do it like ME. NO. Can't do it like ME. Same CORNER. New YEARS. Still the SAME routine. Can't do it like ME. NO. Can't do it like ME. I got MILES underneath me. You got DUST on your FEET. Can't do it like ME. NO. Can't do it like ME. You stayed in the SAME SPOT. I kept MOVING.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: No melodic phrasing; hard consonant attacks; deliberate silence after each short phrase; speech rhythm locked to the kick; percussion density increases without volume increase in vocals.
- Narrative Annotations: Monologue (Intimate but hard delivery over piano and sub-bass).

Chipped tooth grace

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Close and worn pacing | | Musical Direction | Sparse, rhythmic, non-melodic | | Acoustic Elements | Worn instruments, hard-chanted lead, dead air pause |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Close and worn; hard consonant attacks and a deliberate snarl on ad-libs. Vocal cracks on "mean loyal" for authenticity.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics Sometimes I play my song back just to feel the blade again. Sometimes I play my song back just to know what still ain't dead. I made BEAUTY out the bait. beauty out of the BRUISE. out the fucking trap set TIGHT like I was born to make it MOVE. So if I can sing to the Honeypot and make that poison sound like TRUTH, tell me what the hell I'd make if love came clean and followed THROUGH. Chipped tooth grace. Chipped tooth grace. No knife behind the smile, just scars I wear like lace. Chipped tooth grace. Chipped tooth grace. Lord, imagine what I'd be with an unbroken face. I still make beautiful shit. Yeah, that's the FLEX. (that's the flex) I still make beautiful shit with a boot print on my CHEST. They threw grime up on my name, put static in my BREATH, and I still made a hymn out of a setup meant for DEATH. That ain't soft. That ain't luck. That's grace with a chipped tooth. That's blood turned into music. That's pain turned into proof. Chipped tooth grace. Chipped tooth grace. No cage behind the care, no wire in this embrace. Chipped tooth grace. Chipped tooth grace. God help this whole fake world— this is my unbroken face.

- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Sparse one-instrument opening); Post-hook (Pull back to near-silence); Verse 2 (Harder pocket with ad-lib snarls); Outro (Abrupt cut on the final word).

Concrete Communion

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Bouncing anapestic Drill | | Musical Direction | Bouncing anapestic Drill / Cold Drill hybrid | | Acoustic Elements | Cold drill textures, low-end drop-outs, full 808 impact |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Cold spoken-word intro; transitions to a militant drill punch. Dry, close-mic vocal.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics This ain't no bedtime story. This is concrete communion. You wanna know how I operate? Check the fucking records. Check the scars. Check the nights I survived when nobody gave a damn about tomorrow. They test me. I teach. I walk through the asphalt with dirt on my shoes, With nothing but nerve and a reason to move. They smile in my face while they plot from the side, Then act fucking shocked when I see through the disguise. I learned how the hungry move, How the desperate talk, How a fake-ass friend changes lanes when you walk. I read the room quick. I study the hands. I don't need a confession when I understand. You came with your bullshit. I don't have to bite. You brought the darkness. I brought fucking light. I could've gone savage. Could've answered with rage. Could've put motherfuckers, back inside their cage. But I don't need revenge to prove what I am. I know exactly who I am when the pressure gets slammed. They came looking for weakness. I gave them restraint. They came looking for blood. I gave them grace. I give mercy to the motherfuckers hoping I bleed, While they're reaching for the blade thinking that's what I need. I stand in the fire, my feet planted deep. grace without surrender, boundaries i keep. Not mine. Not theirs. Not anybody's game. I don't throw gasoline just because somebody came with a match and a mouth and a grudge and a plan. I know what I'm capable of. That's why I don't have to prove I'm the man. I build while I'm bleeding. I work through the suck. You think restraint means weakness? Bitch, good fucking luck.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Cold spoken over 808); Pre-Drop (Low end disappears for tension); Drill Break (Ultra-cold, clipped delivery); Outro (Fading 808).

Cookies and baddies

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Wavy / High-energy club pace | | Musical Direction | Playful, confrontational club/trap | | Acoustic Elements | Taunting beat, heavy kick, playful/wavy vibe |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Taunting high-energy delivery with a wink; confident storytelling.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics You really got the nerve to stand there, mouth halfway open, eyes locked on me like I'm some kind of exotic animal fresh out the zoo. I see it—hell, everybody sees it. You ain't even tryin' to hide it. Y'all were stuck in that sausage fest (Ayy!) I was where the baddies rested (Yeah!) Cookies were in the oven, got 'em undressed (Sheesh!) You were swingin' hammers, I was countin' my blessings! But you're WATCHING me dance. That's kinda sus, bro. Seventh grade, they laughed at me, callin' me sweet. Till they saw me chillin' where the shorties like to meet. Y'all was buildin' birdhouses, smellin' like grease. I was rollin' out dough, gettin' kisses on the cheek. Y'all stayed in the locker room, smackin' bare backs. I was in the kitchen, flirtin' while they laughed. Fast forward now, guess who got the last laugh? Every party that I hit, I don't even gotta ask... But you're still glued to my moves, huh? They thought I was soft 'cause I switched up the class. Now they in the group chat, beggin' for a pass. Tryna learn game, but they stuck in the past. I was bakin' with the baddies, now I'm drownin' in the stash. Call it strategy, nothin' accidental. Y'all was playin' with wrenches, I was playin' instrumental. While you flexed screwdrivers, I was learnin' credentials. Now I pull up anywhere, and the vibes stay essential.

- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Spoken raw delivery); Hook (Hard beat drop); Bridge (Reflective, cocky tone); Outro (Final flex over fading beat).

Dance of dark and light

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Atmospheric build | | Musical Direction | Atmospheric pads, sparse percussion | | Acoustic Elements | Ghostly female vocal echoes, heavy reverb |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Powerful Lead Vocal delivery woven through haunting female echoes.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics (Main vocal) Dance of dark and light. (Female echo, haunting) Dance of dark and light... (Main vocal) When shadows learn to shine tonight. (Female echo, fading) Shine tonight... shine tonight... I spent years trying to kill the parts of me that bled, Apologizing for the fire that kept me fed, Thought healing meant erasing every scar I'd earned, But scars are just the places where the light returned. They told me pick a side, be either saint or sin, But I'm the storm that rages and the peace within, I'm the question and the answer that won't reconcile, I'm learning how to love my contradicted style. What if broken isn't something to be fixed? What if darkness isn't something to resist? What if all the parts they say don't belong Are the very things that make me strong? I'm dancing with my demons, they're teaching me to fly, My wounds become my windows to see the deeper sky, I'm learning that my shadow knows the steps my light forgot, (Main vocal) In the dance of dark and light, (Female echo) dance of dark and light... (Main vocal) it's the only truth I've got.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Verse 1 (Subtle percussion foundation); Pre-Chorus (Building intensity); Chorus (Maximum emotional intensity main vocal).

Dear Ms. Ghost

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Rhythmic spoken pace | | Musical Direction | Unaccompanied poetic document / Spoken word focus | | Acoustic Elements | Silence / Natural resonance |

- Vocal Delivery Profile: Direct, honest, and uncompromising; clear boundaries and intellectual appeal.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics You see with me, With me, you're free! free to deceive the world around. Leave a scandalous trail, let chaos abound! A million in your wake, That's what it takes! When you look at me, don't be fake! We got way too much at stake! If you mess up, just tell me straight! I won't mind even if it's a heavyweight. But lie, deceive, or try to hide, trust is lost! In the shadows it'll hide! Love's foundations is BUILT ON THIS! HONESTY AND COMMUNICATION! not a bliss! When trust is lost, love cant survive!so let's be open, real, side by side. Present today, just you and me. No worries about tomorrow, you see. Leave betrayal and lies behind, Let our human sides unwind. In the memory of those who played the game, I hear their teardrops fall like rain. I'm down to chill, for a day, week, year, But let's be clear! no time for games here. I ain't a Gameboy! don't play pretend. I'll vibe with you if you're keeping it 100, my friend. Too old for wasting time on deceit. In the streets, honesty's a rare feat. I know what I want, no compromise! Provide a safe space, where truth never dies. Air your transgressions, don't be shady as fuck! In this realness, find the trust we construct. If you mess up, just tell me straight. I won't mind, even if it's a heavyweight. But lie, deceive, or try to hide. Trust is lost, in the shadows it'll hide. P.S. Subject , are you real enough?
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Continuous flow; emphasis on "HONESTY AND COMMUNICATION."
- Narrative Annotations: Post-scriptum addressed directly to the Subject.

EL CHISME BRIGADE

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Pushed Tempo | | Musical Direction | Drill pocket with vihuela loop and brass | | Acoustic Elements | Distant reverb-heavy trumpet, tuba swells, tape hiss, vinhuela loop |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Sharp, aggressive street conversationalist. Features taunting whispers and cold, controlled rage.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics Es puro ruido, compa... puro chisme barato. No bang, pura lengua, puro pinche chatter, Rumor-ass vultures makin' every story fatter. One cabrón starts it, cinco lo distorsionan, By the time it hits me, ya ni lo mencionan. Everybody "sabe," nobody got proof, All talk, no receipts, just fake-ass truth. Too much talk, too much yap-yap poison, Feeding off drama like it's life's only choice, son. Cycle don't die, it just keeps runnin', Same weak mouths but they swear they run somethin'. La brigada de las lenguas largas go yap-yap-yappin', Big-mouth circus, pero nothing ever happenin'. Call it "concern," nah, that's character traffickin', Same dirty bullshit in a fake-ass packaging. Pressure don't bruise, it fucks with your head, Sleep gets wrecked when the noise gets fed. They twist your name till it don't feel yours, Then act like they ain't the ones that caused it. "Something wrong with him," empiezan a tirar, Like they ain't the ones that pushed it that far. Nah, it ain't truth, it's repetition abuse, Say it enough and these fools call it news.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes

- Structural Commands: Intro (Taunting whisper over tape hiss); Hook (Brass punches and gang chant energy); Bridge (Beat drops to heartbeat tuba; spoken, detached delivery); Outro (Warped echo dismissal).

Facts, Not Permission

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Tight anapestic Drill pace | | Musical Direction | Heavy drill bounce | | Acoustic Elements | One-bar silence drop, intimate restrained atmosphere |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Transitions from an amused smirk to a snarling, heavier pocket.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics Yeah, let me make this shit simple and plain, 'cause apparently somebody got lost in the lane. If I talk about my Subject, hear facts. That's the truth that I give, and I stand on that. But don't get it twisted, don't twist what I said. My truth isn't permission to disrespect. I gave you the facts. I didn't give you her. That's the line right there. I can tell you the scars and the flaws and the breaks, every promise that cracked, every choice and mistake. I can tell you where she hurt me, where I did damage too, where the pressure got heavy and the whole thing came through. I'll give you the raw and the ugly and real, every wound that was hidden, each cut that could heal. Facts, not permission, that's all that I gave. I told you the truth, I didn't hand you a blade. I can speak on the pain, I can tell you the scars, but don't take my history and make it your war. It's amusing how quickly a mouth finds a throne, when a person hears pieces and thinks that they know. Got a fraction of context, now suddenly wise, with a verdict prepared and that look in their eyes. Nah, sit down. You don't know what I know. You don't know where we started. You don't know where we go.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Conversational smirk); Beat Drop (One bar of silence); Verse 3 (Snarling heavier pocket).

From Westwood to the Real Westside

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Low, grimy bounce | | Musical Direction | Low bounce, instructional tone | | Acoustic Elements | Neon glass textures, city wind, ambient tarp noise, footsteps |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Grimy calm Lead Vocal paired with a glossy, bright Female Vocalist.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics Westwood don't sleep, it just shifts its teeth, neon on glass, cold crawling beneath. Bus fumes thick like a cough in the chest, I'm sun-baked truth with a hole in the vest. (Female) You saw me see you through the city glass, hungry eyes, silk scarf, trouble in class. Different table, same damn ache, come eat with me before we both break. (Male) So we walked in—me dust, her design, two wrong notes somehow landing in time. White linen stiff like a well-paid lie, menu talking words that don't live where I lie. She said, "Order anything." I said, "Say less," but price-tag panic started punching my chest. (Female) White linen lied but your eyes told truth, I got gold on my skin and a hole in the roof. Take me past the glow, past the fake, I wanna know what's real when the masks all break.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes

- Structural Commands: Intro (Close-mic male over footsteps); Bridge (Affirming male vocal over stripped-back bounce).

Gaslighter's Delight

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Cold, slow-creep pace | | Musical Direction | Cold, minimal drums, slow-creep bass | | Acoustic Elements | Empty accusatory space, dry front vocals |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Unforgiving, front-and-center delivery. Clipped, spoken intros.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics You ever argue with someone and realize halfway through you're not debating facts—you're defending your eyesight. That's when you know. I doubted my sight, my memory too, While you lied with a smile like it's nothing new. Now the picture's sharp, no distortion, no hue—I wasn't wrong about anything... except you. You didn't just lie, you coached my doubt, Had me explaining my tone while you sneaking out. Every question met with a sideways grin, Like truth was a game and I was playing to win. You said "that never happened," calm as a priest, While my gut was screaming like it saw a beast. You called it love when I caught you slipping, Called me "insecure" when the mask was ripping. Every boundary I set got flipped to a flaw, Every time I stood firm, you moved the law. You weaponized calm, made chaos look clean, Had me doubting instincts that been sharp since sixteen.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Clipped spoken delivery); Bridge (Beat muted for spoken clarity); Outro (Cold finality).

If you're on my team

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Intellectual rhythmic pace | | Musical Direction | Minimalist pulsing beat | | Acoustic Elements | Pulsing bass, war drum pulse |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: TED-style intensity; authoritative, raw, militant.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics If you're not on my team—(you're not on my team). Listen up!! This ain't no mother fucking TED talk, this is my masterclass on.—If you're on my team. You can lie to the planet, scam the crowd, sell the show, wear a hundred faces, play magician, play ghost. But when you face me? Don't front, don't pose. A counterfeit soul is the first thing exposed. Look in my eyes, and I better see truth, not a staged performance, not a rehearsed proof. If you're on my team—you on my team. Same lane, same aim, same fire, same dream. If you're not on my team—(you're not on my team). I don't trip if you slip, if you stumble, collapse, if you fumble the pass, if you crash in the clash. That's one game lost, not the season destroyed—your honest voice keeps the trust employed. If you confess your mistake, I can hold that ground, 'cause honesty builds bridges where betrayal drowns.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Commanding voice over pulsing bass); Refrain (Call-and-response staccato); Outro (Deliberate slow closure).

LOVE IN THE RUIN

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Dust-heavy dragging pace | | Musical Direction | Dust-heavy piano loop, sub-bass | | Acoustic Elements | Stolen car door textures, cracked glass snare, distant rotor wash, warped vinyl |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Gravelly outlaw cadence paired with a raw, smoky soul vocal.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics(Female) LOVE IN THE RUIN... Under liquor-store lights and broken neon sins... LOVE IN THE RUIN... Helicopters circling like they know where we've been... Cold rain carving names in the streetlight grime... Still you grab my hand like it's the last lifeline...(Male) Black hoodie soaked, looking like a warning sign, Storm water pooling where the sidewalk stops trying, Bus bench theology, cracked glass prophecy, Every breath out here come with a cost, honestly.Ain't nobody built this block for mercy, It chews up soft hearts, spits out thirsty, Everybody righteous from a clean little distance, Till hunger put a gun to their resistance.(Female) If the city swallowed our names... Would you still call out my flame... If tomorrow turned ash and bone... Would you still walk me home... If the sky came down in smoke and wire... Would you hold me through the fire...
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Filtered vocal sample and rotor wash); Bridge (Eerie cracked harmony); Outro (Low spoken finality).

Love and wifey

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Weighted spoken pace | | Musical Direction | Atmospheric spoken word | | Acoustic Elements | Atmospheric weight, raw presence |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Intense, grown-folk spoken delivery; raw, personal, and unapologetic.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsLove and wifey are not the same motherfucking thing. So if I come on strong, do not get the shit twisted from the start. Yeah, I write songs. Yeah, I make art. Yeah, I might take a moment, a look, a night, or one little detail about you and turn it into something raw, personal, and hard to ignore.That does not mean you are suddenly my forever. That does not mean I am claiming you. Intensity is not ownership. Passion is not a proposal. Chemistry is not commitment. And good dick damn sure is not a blood oath.Real commitment gets tested when the lights come on. So enjoy the songs. Enjoy the art. Enjoy the attention. Enjoy the way I can make a moment feel like something. Just do not build a whole fake-ass future out of it. Because if it flows, I flow. If it is forced, I am gone. No fake promises. No confused titles. No playing house in a shaky-ass structure built out of lust, loneliness, and projection.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Continuous spoken manifesto; emphasize "grown-folk math."

MR. RIGHT NOW

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Dusty Boom-Bap cadence | | Musical Direction | Dusty Boom-Bap drums | | Acoustic Elements | Chrome textures, engine failure soundscapes |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Dry confidence, sharp cadence with internal rhymes, smirking delivery.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsI ain't Mr. Right, don't hand me that crown. I'm the one she call when it's all fallin' down. He got forever, where he at right now? I'm Mr. Right Now, let me show you how.He bring roses, I bring stories she'll repeat. He bring speeches, I bring rhythm to the beat. He sell destiny, talkin' stars and signs. I sell honesty with a little cheap wine. He say "trust me," with a preacher-type grin. Whole TED Talk outside, whole mess within.He send paragraphs, I send "where you at?" By the time he hit send, I'm already a fact. He ask "what are we?" like he writin' a report. I'm just livin' in the moment while he holdin' court. She said, "You trouble." I said, "Yeah, that's true." "But at least when I bullshit, I admit that shit too."No promises. No fake vows. No actin' like a king while treatin' people like clowns. He can keep tomorrow. Matter of fact... He can keep the fantasy too. I'm just the reason tonight felt more real than the bullshit..
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Bridge (Beat strips back for "No promises"); Outro (Spoken smirking dismissal).

Ms. Ghost

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Slow, fierce Drill pace | | Musical Direction | Dark Trap/Fierce Drill hybrid | | Acoustic Elements | Heavy bass, atmospheric tension building, throat punch lines |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Raw, gritty, fierce, and aggressive.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsStreetlights carve shadows on these unforgiving streets, No room for illusions—where truth and passion meet. Your name whispers danger, a flame burning too bright, A million stories in your wake, but with me, keep it tight. I'm done with pretense; here, we stand face to face— Subject , drop the act, or get out my space!Speak the truth—no heavy lies, Subject , is this real, or just fate in disguise?Scars tell our battles, pain etched deep in our souls, This isn't a soft love song—it's the fire that makes us whole. Slice through the masquerade; let honesty shine through, No more games, no more masks—just me and the real you. I don't do smoke screens, don't test my sight.Is this connection solid, or am I chasing a ghost? Can we shatter these barriers and reveal what matters most? Let our wounds mend in the glow of honest light, Before we drown in shadows and surrender to the night.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Verse 1 (Raw delivery); Refrain (Aggressive rhythmic flow); Bridge (Beat slows for introspection); Outro (Beat fades slowly with unease).

RINGMASTER OF RUIN

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Rubato / Carnival chaos pace | | Musical Direction | Warped calliope, Big Top chaos | |

Acoustic Elements | Thunder rolls, rain on canvas, sliding 808s, tent-canvas snare hits

- Vocal Delivery Profile: Theatrical "villain" voice; unhurried, smug, and velvet-toned.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics"Ladies... gentlemen... and every last one of you who swore you'd never run away and join the circus... Too late. You already did."Step right up and lose your shadow leave it hangin' at the door everybody wants the encore nobody wants to rehearse the fall.I'M the LION and the TAMER in the SAME damn CAGE. BUILT my WHOLE circus OUT of ASH and RAGE. GOT a TIGHTROPE made of PROMISES nobody KEPT. WALK it EVERY night and NEVER once misSTEP. TENT full of MIRRORS, every ONE of 'em CRACKED. STILL find a VERSION of me that LOOKS intact. RINGLEADER of the WRECKAGE, conDUCTOR of the FALL I make the THUNDER clap on CUE like it's my CALL.RINGMASTER OF RUIN! (Step right up!) when the tent starts burnin' we call it the finale! (Burn it!) when the crowd starts screamin' we call that an encore! (Encore!) top hat crooked grin sawdust on my chin if the devil's in the front row tell him, "welcome home!"
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Calliope under thunder); Chorus (Full gang vocal chaos); Bridge (Sub-bass and warped music box); Outro (Final villain bow).

Script-Squeeze

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Hyper-rhythmic bounce | | Musical Direction | Hyper-rhythmic bounce | | Acoustic Elements | Female vocal samples, rhythmic echoes |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Aggressive, dead-eyed with a faint smirk. Accompanied by a sweet-voiced Female Vocalist delivering ruthless mockery.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsY'all ain't dangerous. Y'all just loud when the script got extras. Take away the crowd, the whisper, the rumor... Now it's just a coward, dry lips, fake-ass posture.(Female) You get loud, still look like a clown, Only talkin' big when your homies around. Ain't nobody impressed but your bitch, All that fake-ass bark, you ain't built for shit.(Male) Ain't nobody wake up sayin', "Lemme go be trash," They just hear one lie, let it settle, let it hatch. One soft-ass warning got a weak spine twitchin', Now the whole damn room act brave off bad fiction.You a surround-sound savage when the room full of echoes, Solo? whole soul shrink down to a demo. Pack-mode pitbull, lone-mode bitch, Need six fake witnesses just to make your chest lift. Confidence rented, courage on lease, Soon as the crowd thin out, so do your teeth.That's why I don't confuse noise with power. A lot of y'all only got volume. Take away the script... Take away the pack... And there go your whole motherfuckin' personality.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Spoken low with smirk); Verse 3 (Cold contempt delivery); Outro (Razor-flat spoken finish).

She's doing her

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Syncopated Boom-Bap swing | | Musical Direction | Bouncing syncopation, Boom-Bap swing | | Acoustic Elements | Heavy kick, crowd chant energy |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Unapologetic, chest-out drill cadence.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsI appreciate you for you, every scar, every flaw. Ain't my job to play warden, judge, jury, or law. Homies see me posted with a glittered-up hood chick. Couple days later everybody got opinions and shit. "She gon dog you out." Cool... Maybe she will. Half these motherfuckers talkin never built nothin real. They saw us kickin it, started runnin they mouth. Same old broke-ass chorus, same old played-out route. Talkin down on her, talkin down on me. Motherfucker that's your issue, that ain't got shit to do with me. She can shake ass, Read books, Work nights, Sleep days, Change her damn mind six times in six ways. She don't owe nobody purity, Nobody grace, Nobody explanations every time she leaves a place. Girl, be exactly who the fuck you are. Not the edited version built for strangers in a bar. Not the cleaned-up version built for family online. Not the shrink-wrapped version built to fit somebody's mind.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Pre-Chorus (Rising aggression); Bridge (Stripped back spoken analysis); Hook (Chant-ready swing).

Shit You Gon' See

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Gritty Boom-Bap pace | | Musical Direction | Gritty lo-fi hip hop | | Acoustic Elements | Distorted piano loop, flickering neon atmosphere, street noise |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Conversational flow; cold and knowing.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsThe neon is flickering, the truth is in the cracks. Once you see the vision, there ain't no turning back. Polished shoes stepping over the forgotten. The fruit looks ripe but the core is feeling rotten. Watch the way they pivot when the cameras start to blink. It's a long way down when you stop to take a drink. That's the shit you gon' see when the lights go out. That's the shit you gon' see what they're talking about. Don't close your eyelids, don't turn your head away. The truth is a debt that you're gonna have to pay. You can't unsee the ghost once you've seen the haunting.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (City street noise); Pre-Hook (Cinematic strings swell); Outro (Distant siren and abrupt cut).

Still here

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Industrial synchronic pace | | Musical Direction | Industrial echo, low synths | | Acoustic Elements | Train FX, sub-bass hum, industrial echo, minimalist keys |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Reflective but fierce; steady cadence transitioning to an aggressive, gritty flow.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsThis ain't just a story—it's a reckoning. A chronicle of what happens when love survives where the system fails, when fire builds homes the world keeps tearing down. Subject didn't fall through the cracks—she lived in 'em. Slept between society's blind spots with a raccoon for a witness and a man they called broken, but who carried her through storms. Subject —raccoon on her shoulder, hell in her lungs, Not homeless—she holy, where the wild things run. They broke her home. (Still here.) Burned what she built. (Still here.) Cut off her love. (Still here.) Tried to erase her—she reappeared. (Still. Here.) Every plank was protest. Every tarp a prayer. System said "progress," then bulldozed her care. They offered help laced with rules and chains. Said love like hers was too wild for frames. "Leave him," they said, "He holds you back." But they never saw the fire in the cracks. They tore her down. They called it progress. But she's still burnin'. Still echoing through the tracks. And now... she got a mic.

- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Reflective spoken word over train hum); Verse 1 (Thunderous beat underneath); Bridge (Minimalist keys and narration); Outro (Fade into train FX).

THE RIVER DON'T WEEP

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | 78 BPM | | Musical Direction | Dark West Coast Drill | | Acoustic Elements | Eerie two-note bass motif, distant traffic and rain, sparse drums |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Conversational with a sly grin. Hypnotic pre-hook leading to a huge chant chorus. Resolution and resolve in final verses.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics There's a fool on Turk Street with a mouth full of shit (yeah) selling chains with a smile like they're diamonds and shit. But listen real close 'cause the river got something to say. He'll sell you the water like it's liquid gold, damn. Preach you the truth while he's counting his cash. Say, "baby, don't hold on, just trust in the plan" while he's holding your money inside of his hand. You said, "don't hold on" (don't hold on) so I let you go (let you go). You said, "don't hold on" (don't hold on) now watch me go. The river don't weep (don't weep). The river don't beg (don't beg). You can't put a leash on water and expect it to stay wet. He called it loyalty but loyalty don't need a threat. He called it love but love don't collect a debt. He called it protection but protection ain't possession and every time he said "you need me" what he meant was "don't leave me."
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Conversational smirk); Pre-Hook (Drums pull back, whispers stack); Verse 2 (Colder beat with more space); Break (Drums drop for rain and sub-bass spoken word); Outro (Drums disappear one by one).

Water and Concrete

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | | Heartbeat-kick pace | | Musical Direction | Sparse piano, heartbeat-like kick | | Acoustic Elements | Distant rain, stacked harmonies, deep heartbeat kick |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Deep male spoken voice; conversational swagger paired with a bold, anthemic female vocal.

- Complete Transcribed Lyrics They told us hard survive... They never told us soft outlives. This one... For everybody still building... With bloody hands. Water and concrete... Baby, that's you and me. Still stand tall... When the whole block bleeds. Water and concrete... We grow where they can't see. They built these walls... We became the streets. Every hour tried selling me rage, Every memory begged me to storm the stage. But a loud-ass ego always bills you twice... I wasn't buying that price. Door cracked open... She stepped inside... Guilt hanging heavy, nowhere to hide. She waited on thunder... Expected flame... Expected me playing that old damn game. Instead... Coffee... Two old mugs... Some fights lose power when nobody shoves.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Spoken over rain and piano); Inner Monologue (Beat strips to bass and piano); Outro (Deep spoken word).

border prophecy

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Dusk-lit pacing | | Musical Direction | Minimalist beat, ambient and eerie | | Acoustic Elements | Wind-in-ruins sounds |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Shakespearean cadence with street grit; sharp, deliberate vocals.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics We don't run, We Run Shit. The Border adventures, A Darkened Prophecy. So there I lay, soul weary beneath neon's hum, A pilgrim by the 7-Eleven's gate, where the night spoke in static. One in the morn, eyes heavy, limbs like stone, Then—like fate summoned in heels—two femmes arrive. They write laws. We bend space. We move with ghosts, we set the pace. security tries to flex. Subject 1 don't blink. "You forget we know where you sleep in TJ, fool?" She hurls heat like a warlock in heels. Guard fades like a bad memory. Subject 2 leans close, lips barely part. "We run it."
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Continuous rhythmic pacing through prophetic chapters; Verse 2 (Swagger rising); Outro (Prophecy fulfillment).

four matches

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Deliberate enunciation pace | | Musical Direction | Sparse ambient hum | | Acoustic Elements | Fabric rustle, match foley (flick/fizzle), distant sirens |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Clear, deliberate enunciation; narration with significant weight.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics Rattling around in my pocket—my last match. Held it, felt like bone in my fingers. Cold. Thin. Funny how a match don't just spark fire—it sparks memory. Gasoline smell hits me. Cold. Sharp. He ain't just yellin' now—he's makin' a statement. Flicks out a matchbook. Rips one off. Four chances at burnin' us all to nothin'. Scratch. Fizzle. Nothin'. Scratch. Just smoke. Three times. Nothin' but failures. Then the last one—Dead stick. Matches. Promises you make yourself. Promises others make you. Flames that just... quit. Life in the gutter, played out in cardboard.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes

- Structural Commands: Intro (Sparse hum); Pause (Weight settling); Music Fades (Silence for impact); Outro (Faint wind and sirens).

from nowhere

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Bouncy Boom-Bap cadence | | Musical Direction | Bouncy Boom-Bap, crooked piano stabs | | Acoustic Elements | Jittery hi-hats, crisp snares, car door/engine effects |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Flat menace, clipped delivery; percussive bouncing rhymes.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics They said I wasn't worth the bandwidth, the time, or a dime. Funny—half a decade later, still ringing your line. Why it take an army... And half a decade... To try and nail me? You know my birth sign, blood type, vaccinations—(sad) I don't know you from a gas-station stranger, bitch! (BITCH!) You memorized my moves, my patterns, my phases—(We been knew) I don't even register you as data worth saving! Five years straight, same routes, same loops. Screenshots saved like blueprints of my moves. "He ain't shit," yeah, you whisper, you quote. Gripping that lie like it's your lifeboat. Call me a pest, I'll take that crown. Takes a lot of traps to keep one rat down. You drew the map, I just stepped off the grid. Now you lost tryna find what I did.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Flat menace spoken); Bridge (Stripped-down to bass and hi-hats); Outro (Engine fade silence).

guerilla marketing

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Hollow drill-beat pace | | Musical Direction | Hollow drill beat, glitching sirens | | Acoustic Elements | Deep 808s, urine-stained earth ambience |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Fierce and steady flow; aggressive tone.
- Complete Transcribed Lyrics I ain't panhandling—I'm positioning. Product: Me. The message is a paradox. My delivery system? No tinted Benz, no boardwalk. Just the damp concrete under the overpass. You see this cardboard? It ain't trash. It's a billboard pulled from the mouth of the void. You see this face? Not desperation. It's brand identity dipped in grime and moonlight. GUERRILLA MARKETING FOR THE SOUL! You see a man in the filth? I see a startup in survival mode. My truth hits too raw? Like a sermon from the gutter that makes no sense? Good. I'm not here to make you comfortable. I'm here to wake you the f up.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Echoing sirens); Beat cuts (Half-second dramatic silence); Outro (Distorted echo chant fading to black).

hen house haters

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Bouncy, off-beat hits | | Musical Direction | TED talk / Trap hybrid | | Acoustic Elements | Soft beat, poultry-vibe metaphors |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Calm but cutting; unbothered, cocky delivery.

- Complete Transcribed LyricsGossip? That's featherweight energy, straight poultry vibes. If you cluckin' from the sidelines, best believe—I'm still winnin' the block.You squawk—I slide—You talk—I glide—You cluck—I rise—Fall back—too fried. I hear that talk, can't trust that vibe, Feathers get fluffed when I step outside.I ain't in the room, but I'm center stage, Got 'em rattled like birds in a wire cage. I'm a bum? Then what's that make you? Focused on me while your own life's through?I'm Lead Vocalist, bruh, I don't pretend. I build in silence, while y'all play pretend. If cluckin's your brand—go head, do you, But don't act surprised when I level right through.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Spoken word over soft beat); Pre-Hook (Aggressive emphasis); Outro (PSA style spoken word).

king of the jungle

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Primal Tribal pacing | | Musical Direction | Primal Amazon atmosphere | | Acoustic Elements | Taiko drums, earthy strikes, misty jungle foley, eerie hum |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Articulate, staccato spoken word.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsDeep in the jungle, where the air hung thick, Lived a monkey named Subject , always fast, always quick.He took that bite, slow motion, head high, Eyes dilating, pupils wide as the sky. His smooth moves faded, his steps got weak, What once was power, now made him tweak.Every night the same, no change in his game, Grippin' that fruit, Subject lost his flame. The crew moved on, left him behind, Subject stayed stuck, caught in rewind.No crown, no glory, no throne to reclaim, Just a monkey who fell, chasing the flame.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Taiko pounding); Verse 1 (Slow rhythmic build); Beat pauses (Anticipation); Outro (Beat fades mournfully).

present today

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Chill atmosphere | | Musical Direction | Honest, chill atmosphere | | Acoustic Elements | Echoing footsteps |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Consistent, open, real delivery.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsPresent today, just you and me. No worries about tomorrow, you see. Leave betrayal and lies behind, Let our human sides unwind. You're free to deceive the world around, Leave a scandalous trail, let chaos abound.I ain't a Gameboy! don't play pretend. I'll vibe with you if you're keeping it 100, my friend. Too old for wasting time on deceit. In the streets, honesty's a rare feat.If you mess up, just tell me straight. I won't mind, even if it's a heavyweight. But lie, deceive, or try to hide. Trust is lost, in the shadows it'll hide.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Repetitive Refrain; final focus on Footsteps in the Outro.

scars write the book

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Gritty testimonial flow | | Musical Direction | Gritty testimonial flow | | Acoustic Elements | Low rumble under bass, street preacher vibe |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Sharp, aggressive rap; visceral and defiant.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsA Spark Ignites (scars write the book). It only took a moment, just a spark, Your presence hit, and pierced the silent dark. A whole new song ripped itself from the silence, A visceral birth, just like us DEFIANT!No cap, (no tassel) no tassel, (No cap) no classroom crook. Scars write the, (the book) scars write the book. She said every cut you carry, don't overlook. Read it out loud, make the world take a look.Saw past the calm face, deep to the twisted plots, Knew every shadow, every single messy spot. "Inside that mess," she said, "a teacher survives—teach through the cuts, through the pain, through the lies."Life ain't a classroom, it's a war zone. And she handed me the syllabus etched in bone. Every cut, every scar, it's a lesson to hold. Speak it out loud, watch the story unfold.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Spoken low rumble); Verse 1 (Beat drops/kicks door in); Bridge (Street-preacher style over beat drop); Outro (Fading spoken).

you know what's up

- Vocal Delivery Profile: Cocky, confident, low close-mic delivery.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsYou been talkin' 'bout me for weeks. Months. Same name. Same warnings. Still yappin'. Still cappin'.I'm the proof, lil' bitch, you the talk. Run your mouth, boy, now she wanna walk. Tell her I'm dangerous, tell her I'm trouble. Now she's walkin' my way and your problems come double.You keep sellin' fear, but she keep gettin' curious, every time you mention me, the room gettin' serious. You keep tryin' to close the door, but you keep leavin' it unlocked.You said I'm bad news. She said, ("oh ya?") like she ready for somethin' Now she wanna ask. You said, "Stay away." She said, ("Baby you trippin'!") You said, "He's trouble." Now she wanna find out why.
- Musical Annotations and Structural Notes
- Structural Commands: Intro (Spoken low close-mic); Pre-Hook (Stripped beat); Bridge (Deliberate spoken over silence); Outro (Beat drops out completely).

Pacifier Politics

- Compositional Specifications | Feature | Detail | | :--- | :--- | | Tempo (BPM) | Playful ukulele bop | | Musical Direction | Playful ukulele bop with carnival keys | | Acoustic Elements | Irony claps, sugary harmonies, mocking female ad-libs |
- Vocal Delivery Profile: Sarcastic, percussive; sweet tone clashing with creeping menace.
- Complete Transcribed LyricsYou keep telling everybody I'm nothing... Like I'm air. Like I'm background noise. So explain this slow—real slow—Why my name stay parked in your mouth like it pay rent there? Say I ain't shit, but you sip every word—(Ha!) Run your lips like a fiend getting served. I'm "nothing," right? cool, let's pretend—(Look!) Then why I'm the topic again and again? Group chats buzzing, my name get fed. Like a bottle to a baby that can't go to bed. You keep saying I'm nothing, but you won't let me go. Got my name in your mouth like it's all that you know. Suckin' on the rumor like it's comfort and pity. Like it's your momma' titty, you punk bitch—(BITCH!) Round and round, little clown with a loud-ass mouth. Say I'm nothing up north, scream my name down south. Every lie you suck just keep feeding the myth. You ain't killing my name—you just building that shit.

- Structural Commands: Intro (Calm disrespect spoken); Hook (Sugary chant with venom); Bridge (Carnival slow-down); Outro (Playful cold dismissal).

3. Thematic and Stylistic Synthesis

Rhythmic and Metric Patterns

The discography is heavily reliant on technical rhythmic structures that bridge contemporary urban genres and classical meter:

- Anapestic Cadence: Utilized in "Facts, Not Permission," "CAN'T DO IT LIKE ME," and "Concrete Communion." This "two-short-one-long" metric foot creates a forward-leaning, militant momentum that underscores the Lead Vocalist's rejection of static environments.
- Drill Pockets: Frequent use of syncopated, high-tension timing (e.g., "Beta bro," "EL CHISME BRIGADE," "Ms. Ghost"). The "sliding" 808s and "clipped consonants" represent a state of constant tactical movement.
- Half-Time and Syncopation: Used to emphasize conversational weight, particularly in "You know what's up" and "She's doing her," allowing the narrator to deliver "documented facts" with the weight of legal or archival testimony.

Thematic Clusters

The lyrical content across these works organizes into the following primary narrative categories, frequently reinforced by their acoustic environments:

- Integrity and Authenticity: Exploration of "realness" versus "theater."
- Acoustic Reinforcement: The use of "static-laced ambience" and "surveillance-feed hiss" in "GLASS HOUSE" and "Script-Squeeze" sonically reinforces the theme of being under observation and the refusal to "perform" for the watchers.
- Interpersonal Dynamics and Boundaries: Defining the limits of loyalty and energy.
- Acoustic Reinforcement: Anthemic harmonies in "Facts, Not Permission" and "Water and Concrete" underscore the "grown-folk math" of establishing firm boundaries in chaotic relationships.
- Survival and Resilience: Narratives of rising from ruin.
- Acoustic Reinforcement: "Dusty strings" and "industrial train FX" in "Beautifully Broken" and "Still here" provide a gritty, weathered foundation for stories of surviving systemic failure.
- Social Critique and Paranoia: Responses to collective judgment and manipulation.

- Acoustic Reinforcement: "Warped calliope" keys and "ironic claps" in "RINGMASTER OF RUIN" and "Pacifier Politics" create a mocking, carnivalesque atmosphere to dismantle the "theater" of gossip and "chisme."

4. Acoustic Environment Summary

Instrumentation Overview

- Modern Urban Foundations: Dominant use of "808s," "dusty Boom-Bap drums," and "hollow drill beats" as structural anchors.
- Organic Contrast: Incorporates "dusty strings," "sparse piano," "vinhuela loops," "distant trumpets," and "playful ukulele" to represent vulnerability or historical weight.
- Theatrical Textures: Utilization of "carnival keys," "warped music box," and "Taiko drums" to establish cinematic, high-stakes environments.

Atmospheric Textures

The discography utilizes specific non-musical sounds as narrative tools:

- Environmental Cues: "Street noise," "rain on canvas," "bus fumes," and "soft wind."
- Surveillance/Emergency: "Distant sirens," "police sirens," "rotor wash," and "surveillance-feed hiss."
- Mechanical Foley: "Industrial train FX," "cracked glass snares," "car door shuts," and "match foley."
- Archival Noise: "Tape hiss" and "warped vinyl" textures used to frame the work as a historical document.

5. Final Archival Statement

This discography serves as a meticulously documented archive of lived experience, rejecting modern theatricality in favor of raw, objective truth. The collective works emphasize a "syllabus of scars," where trauma and resilience are treated as educational data points rather than performance art. By prioritizing documented facts, time-stamped receipts, and tactical restraint over emotional or narrative spin, the discography establishes a cohesive profile of resilience. The material functions as a rejection of external validation, advocating for individual autonomy and the preservation of truth within high-pressure systemic environments.
